

1-6 Tuition fees

1 Payment method / amounts

Students are required to pay entrance examination, admission and tuition fees. These fees are exempted for Japanese government scholarship students and short-term exchange students admitted on the basis of exchange agreements between universities or departments.

- Entrance examination fees are paid upon application
- Admission fees are paid during the application process
- Tuition fees are paid for each semester, in May and in November (in March and September for research students).

Any revision of the fees applies immediately. Payment is done through bank transfer or direct deposit.

The following is a list of fees for 2020

2 Fee exemption

Self-financed international students (at the undergraduate or graduate level only) with outstanding grades may apply for a fee exemption when facing economic difficulties.

In general, applications must be submitted by mid-April for the first semester, and by mid-October for the second semester. Applicants must gather and submit the necessary documents before a specific deadline, after which their applications can no longer be accepted.

The decision to exempt a student is taken after a thorough examination of the application and the candidate's academic performance. Exemption may apply to either the full amount or half the amount of tuition fees. Results are sent by mail to the candidate and his guarantor at the end of June (first semester) and in mid-December (second semester).

Specific information about the necessary documents, application deadlines and other details is posted on the notice boards and online. Please note that the procedure may change from one academic year to another. For more details, please contact the Scholarships Section at the Student Support Division.
