

1-5 Scholarships for regular students

The following scholarships are available for international students (Japanese government scholarship students and students dispatched by foreign governments are excepted).

1 Scholarships awarded upon recommendation by the university

Candidates to this type of scholarships are required to take an interview between April and May. Candidates undergo a first round (applications) and second round (interviews) of selection, after which they are ranked by the International Students Committee. Outstanding students are then recommended in this order for a scholarship.

Please note that every student recommended does not necessarily receive such scholarships.

Self-financed international students who did not take the interview even though they were offered the chance to do so will be ineligible to apply for scholarships awarded upon the university's recommendation until the next academic year.

Please refer to the university's website for details.

https://www.kaiyodai.ac.jp/english/student/foreignstudents/post_16.html

2 Private scholarships awarded through direct application

Information about this type of scholarships is announced on the university's website. Please check it regularly.